

Celebrating Investing in People

Investors in People is a national quality Standard awarded to well-run organisations which demonstrate good management practice with a high emphasis on best practice people management and development for a period of 3 years. RCHL was reassessed for this award in December 2010 and has successfully maintained this nationally recognised award for commitments to improving productivity and performance through better staff management.

RCHL was presented with Investors in People award at a ceremony held at The Chesterfield Hotel, Mayfair, London on March 9th 2011.

RCHL joins more than 30,000 ambitious organisations in the UK which are working within the Investors in People framework. John Telfer, Managing Director of Inspiring Business Performance Ltd (IBP), which is responsible for delivering the Investors in People Standard in London and across the South of England, said: "It is encouraging to see that so many organisations are keen to improve their performance by putting people first. We'd like to congratulate all those that have achieved the Investors in People Standard and celebrated with us today – it seems the message is spreading about the benefits it can bring."

Well done everyone!!!!
